Mexican American Spoken Word Artist

www.davidaromero.com

Bio:

David A. Romero is a Mexican American spoken word artist from Diamond Bar, CA. Romero is the author of My Name Is Romero (FlowerSong Press), a book reviewed by Gustavo Arellano (¡Ask a Mexican!), Curtis Marez (University Babylon), and founding member of Ozomatli, Ulises Bella. Romero has appeared at over seventy-five colleges and universities in thirty different states in the USA. Romero's work has been published in literary magazines in the United States, England, and Canada, including: North American Review, The Temz Review, Literary Cultures, Black Bear Review, Pine Hills Review, and Angels Flight • literary west. Romero was the second poet to be featured on All Def Digital. Romero has opened for Latin Grammy winning bands Ozomatli and La Santa Cecilia. Romero's work has been published in anthologies alongside poets laureate Luis J. Rodriguez, Jack Hirschman, and Lawrence Ferlinghetti. Romero has won the Uptown Slam at the historic Green Mill in Chicago; the birthplace of slam poetry. Romero has appeared on radio stations KPFK 90.7 FM Los Angeles and KPFT 90.1 FM Houston. Romero's poetry deals with family, identity, social justice issues, and Latinx culture.

Romero offers a scholarship for high school seniors interested in spoken word and social justice: “The Romero Scholarship for Excellence in Spoken Word.”

David A. Romero has received honorariums from: Arizona State University, The University of Utah, University of Missouri, Washington State University, The University of Memphis, Loyola University Chicago, USC, UCLA, and many more!

Romero is a graduate of the University of Southern California, a double major in Film and Philosophy. Romero is the former host of Between the Bars Open Mic at the dba256 Gallery Wine Bar in Pomona, CA.

Special Reading and Discussion with authors David Romero and Matt Sedillo

Wednesday, December 9, 2020
12:30 p.m. - 1:50 p.m.

<https://us02web.zoom.us/j/3792056503>

All are welcome.

About David Romero: David is a Mexican-American spoken word artist from Diamond Bar, CA. Romero is the author of My Name Is Romero and founding member of Ozomatli, Ulises Bella. Romero has appeared at over seventy-five colleges and universities in over thirty different states in the USA. Romero was the second poet to be featured on All Def Digital. Romero has opened for Latin Grammy winning bands Ozomatli and La Santa Cecilia.

About Matt Sedillo: Matt has been nominated for a Pushcart Prize, which is a tremendous honor. Born in El Sereno, California in 1981, Matt Sedillo writes from the vantage point of a second generation Chicano born in an era of diminishing opportunities and a crumbling economy. His writing - a fearless, challenging and at times even confrontational blend of humor, history and political theory - is a reflection of those realities.

2042: The year the United States of America is projected to become a "minority" majority nation. Birth rates of people of color already exceed those of Caucasians. What many don't know, is that Latinxs alone will make up roughly a third of America's population in a number of decades. Immigration from Central and South America has changed everything. We are witnessing the rise of "the Latinx Giant."

Join spoken word artist David A. Romero as he asks the important questions: what has caused the great migrations from Latin America? How do immigrants and first-generation Latinxs simultaneously embrace and reject previous trends towards assimilation and integration? How has "the Latinx Giant" already affected the outcome of the national elections? Perhaps most importantly, who in America recognizes this shift, and how are they responding: for better, or worse? This presentation will include multimedia and performances of spoken word poetry.

GIVING VICTIMS A VOICE WORKSHOP

DATE: SEPTEMBER 27 TIME: 4:30 - 6:30 PM

ROOM: TBD

Mike Brown, Razan Mohammed Abu-Salha, Brisenia Flores, Matthew Shepard, and Islan Nettles. Their names are familiar to lovers of social justice everywhere. Their stories have been carried on long after their tragic ends. Let's give these victims of hate crimes and police brutality a voice. Participants receive a card with the name and information of a victim. Each story is read aloud. After observing a moment of silence, participants write poems from the perspective of these individuals; often painfully capturing their last moments. This workshop helps participants learn more about people of different races, genders, sexual preferences, and economic backgrounds. Last Words is also an opportunity for students to learn more about people from their own identity, or intersectional identities, and to give them a new sense of purpose and urgency to combat intolerance and promote solidarity.

CULTURAL APPROPRIATION

Students will learn about various forms of cultural appropriation: from indigenous wear found in Halloween costumes and "race parties," to the appropriation of black music by white musicians in American music and the appropriation of local cuisines and fashions by international food and fashion conglomerates. As you learn how to spot appropriation with the help of bell hooks' essay, "Eating the Other," you are tasked with finding examples of cultural appropriation in your own lives. The workshop will be facilitated by David Romero, Mexican-American spoken word artist, poet, and activist.

David A. Romero

As seen on Russell Simmons' All Def Digital, Latino spoken word artist David A. Romero travels from Los Angeles, CA to perform poetry and share his stories about food, family, social justice issues, and Latin@ culture. In a show that combines performance poetry, personal testimony, and politically-charged commentary with a slideshow featuring images from history, current events and Romero's own life experiences, Romero moves crowds to laugh hysterically, think critically, feel hungry, cry tears of joy or sorrow, and raise their fists in protest.

GUEST WRITER SERIES

Parnaz Foroutan
Wednesday, Feb. 10 at 4 p.m.

Join us for a reading and conversation with Parnaz Foroutan, author of The Girl in the Garden, for which she received PEN USA's Emerging Voices award. Her novel has been described as "suspenseful" and a story "of desire, obsession, power and vulnerability," in which a crisis of inheritance leads to the downfall of a wealthy family of Persian Jews in early twentieth-century Iran.

Harryette Mullen
Wednesday, Mar. 9 at 4 p.m.

Harryette Mullen is a poet, short story writer, and literary scholar. Mullen is professor of English at UCLA, where she teaches creative writing, poetry, and African-American literature. She is the author of eight books of poetry, as well short stories and critical essays. Her most recent book is Urban Tumbleweed: Notes from a Tanka Diary.

David A. Romero
Thursday, Apr. 21 at 5 p.m.

Show off your inner poet at our Poetry Slam! hosted by David A. Romero. Come showcase your own work or vote for your favorite performances. Participation is free and open to the public. Romero is a Mexican-American spoken-word artist from Southern California. He performs on college campuses across the country and has appeared multiple times on KPFK 90.7 FM Los Angeles.

LAST WORDS

GIVING VICTIMS A VOICE WORKSHOP

BY DAVID ROMERO

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 9

(Crawley Forum, 5:30PM)

Mike Brown, Razan Mohammed Abu-Salha, Matthew Sheperd, Brisenia Flores, and Islan Nettles, the names are familiar to lovers of social justice everywhere. Their stories have been carried on long after their tragic ends. Let's give these and other victims of hate crimes and/or police brutality a voice!

Participants enter and receive a card with the name and information of a victim. Each story is read aloud. After observing a moment of silence, participants write poems from the perspective of these individuals; often painfully capturing their last moments.

David's Bio:

David A. Romero is a Mexican-American spoken word artist from Diamond Bar, CA. Romero is the second poet to be featured on All Def Digital, a YouTube channel from Russell Simmons. Romero has opened for Latin Grammy winning bands Ozomatli and La Santa Cecilia. Romero's work has been published alongside poet laureates Luis J. Rodriguez, Jack Hirschman, Alejandro Murguía, and Lawrence Ferlinghetti. Romero has won the Uptown Slam at the historic Green Mill in Chicago; the birthplace of slam poetry. Romero has appeared in-studio numerous times on multiple programs on KPRK 90.7 FM Los Angeles. Romero's poetry deals with family, identity, social justice issues and Latin@ culture.
